

HARDWICK

SPRING TALK SERIES

A SERIES OF FASCINATING TALKS EXPLORING WOODLAND, THE ENVIRONMENT, AND OUR RELATIONSHIPS WITH THEM

28th March - Suz Williams

LIVING IN COMMUNITY

Many people dream about living in Community. It is part of our natural heritage to live in small groups. However, navigating this in a modern world takes work and patience. Suz Williams, a member of Harwick's fossil fuel free community farm Green Broom, shares her experiences and insights about Community living and how to make it work.

25th April - Dmitry Glazkov

THE MEANING OF THE TREES

Dmitry, of Sadhama Rewild Retreats, discusses our historical and spiritual relationship with the largest living organisms on Earth. He will explore why yogis, sages and the founders of numerous religions across the world have had a direct relationship with the silent wisdom of the embodied stillness that trees emanate and outline some stories and examples of how the ancient trees at Hardwick have touched Sadhama attendees over the past few years.

30th May - Andrew Hood

ENVIRONMENT AND SELF

Can a deep relationship with our self and our local environment ever be kit-free and harmless to the land and the wild creatures that inhabit it? Andrew Hood is a salvaged-stone sculptor who is conducting a whole-life investigation into lost and/or depleted human functions and efficacies, and their relationship to the natural world. Gradually, his findings are being represented in stone. He will talk to us about what he has learned on his journey so far.

27th June - Dave Jackson

COPPICING

AND ITS CULTURAL HERITAGE

What is coppicing, and how can it benefit biodiversity, the carbon cycle and mankind so harmoniously? Why is coppice such a traditional feature of our wooded landscape? And what is its future in the modern world? Dave Jackson has been a coppice worker for the past 25 years and will be sharing his experience and the work of the National Coppice Federation, to shed some light on the world of coppice.
